SERIOUS CHARGES IN INJUNCTION

That the dangers which a striking laborer faces in going back to work is more real than is generally supposed is evident from the charges made in the injunction asked for by the attorneys for the Oahu Sugar Company, which was filed yesterday in the Circuit Court, and will be argued this afternoon. Its purpose is to restrain Makino, the strike leader, and thirty-two of his associates from interfering with the business of the sugar company.

Attached to the petition are the affidavits of Tsunoda, Hatsuhei, Katsuji, Tsunoda and Iyaji Tsuzuki, who have been threatened and intimidated by officers of the Higher Wage Association, and even threats have been made against the life of Tsuzuki. That part of the charges referring to him read as follows: "That by reason of the threats of personal violence and death heretofore referred to, deponent is daily and hourly in fear if his life last threats made by the parties herein named be carried out."

A second affidavit attached to the motion for an order to show cause why the temporary injunction should not be granted is signed by H. Tsunoda, who states that on Sunday he was threatened by Yanagisawa, one of the defendants, who also stated that if he attempted to prevail on his former workmen to return to the field, he would be "choked to death."

In the bill of complaint it is stated that owing to the large area under cultivation by the Oahu Sugar Company it has been profitable both to the plantation and to its employees to let out cane and canefields under a contract of cultivation. It is stated that any interference or interruption in the unrestricted application of the contract system would mean a loss to the plantation.

The bill of complaint recites the events leading up to the demand that was made by the mill employees on May 7, 1909, for an increase in pay, a compromise offer from Manager Bull being refused. May 12 is mentioned as the day of the strike affecting the whole plantation, and that for a period of ten days the laborers and others involved in the strike remained in their quarters on the plantation and refused to move.

"That on the 12th day of May," reads the bill of complaint, "when said laborers struck as aforesaid there were three crops growing upon complainant's said plantation, to-wit, the balance of the crop of the year 1909, which was being harvested at the time said strike began, the harvesting season for said last named year having commenced on the 15th day of December last and having been prosecuted day and night except Sundays thereafter until the date of said strike; there was also standing in complainant's fields when said strike began as aforesaid, the cane designed for harvesting in the year 1910, and then about ten months' old, and consisting of 4258½ acres, which said cane at said date and continuously thereafter hitherto stood in need of—and during this summer will stand in need of—continuous unbroken irrigation at the periods heretofore set forth to avoid irreparable injury to said cane and to complainant as the owner thereof."

Referring specially to the unlawful methods pursued by Makino and his codefendants to interfere with the operation of the plantation, it is stated "that during the month of December, 1908, all of the above defendants unlawfully, maliciously and fraudulently combined and mutually undertook and concerted together, and with other persons whose names are to this complaint unknown, to do what plainly and directly tended to incite and occasion offense and to do what was obviously and directly injurious to complainant in that, to-wit, at the time aforesaid and within the city and county aforesaid, they, the said defendants and each of them did unlawfully, maliciously and fraudulently combine with each other, and with other persons whose names are to complainant unknown, and mutually undertook and concerted together to prevent complainant and the manager of its said plantation, and the directors and officers of complainant, from exercising and carrying on the business aforesaid of said corporation and from operating its said sugar plantation—to be accomplished by the defendants above named by certain indirect, sinister and unlawful means—by intimidating and threatening violence against and inciting and instigating assaults and batteries upon all Japanese in the city and county of Honolulu then and there being who opposed or should oppose an immediate demand being made by the Japanese laborers employed upon complainant's said plantation for an increase of wages, and who should oppose a strike being started by such of said last named Japanese laborers as were refused such demand, and upon all Japanese in the City and County of Honolulu aforesaid who should attempt to persuade any of said Japanese laborers as were refused such demand for an increase in wages from leaving the employment of the manager or the complainant corporation aforesaid, employing them—and from refusing to continue or renew such employment, and by intimidating and threatening violence against and inciting and instigating others to threaten and intimidate violence against, and inciting and instigating assaults and batteries upon all Japanese laborers employed upon complainant's plantation who should continue to work for complainant and its manager—after being notified by the defendants and their said co-conspirators to cease working for and to refuse employment from the complainant and its manager aforesaid, and by intimidating and threatening violence against—and to boycott financially, ostracize socially, and to blacklist all Japanese within the said Territory who shall fail or refuse to join in with the defendants and assist them in carrying out said unlawful, malicious and fraudulent combination and plan aforesaid."

SURGEON CURRY IS OFF FOR NORWAY

Passed Assistant Surgeon Curry of the United States Marine Hospital Service, sailed this morning for the mainland on the Oceanic liner Alameda. Curry goes to Norway as America's representative to the International Leprosy Congress, scheduled to be held from August 16 to August 24.

Surgeon Curry will be the only official representative of the federal government at the conference, he having been chosen by the Surgeon-General of the Marine Hospital Service as the most suitable expert to represent Uncle Sam at the conference. Curry is expected home the latter part of September or the early part of October. Though he did not make public any of his plans, it is thought not improbable that he may take advantage of his European trip to do a little observation work in the hospitals.

Passed Assistant Surgeon Curry is superintendent of the federal leprosy hospital on Molokai.

The success of the German people is due to their temperance.

Many people look upon the Germans as heavy drinkers. True, but the drink is beer. While other nationalities have their wines, whiskies and gin containing large percentages of alcohol and very little food value, the German's stick to beer with its nourishing barley and tonical hops and only 3 1-2 per cent. alcohol.

In Primo Beer you get less than three per cent. alcohol. We do not say "only" as though the alcohol was not beneficial. Alcohol has a food and stimulating value when the proportion is not too great. The danger is in over stimulation, impossible when the proportion is so small as in beer.

Good beer is beneficial to one's health, and if you are wise you will drink regularly.
